Performance highlights

1

Strong result in a challenging operating environment

We remain on track to achieve our FY25 outlook. We've continued to deliver earnings growth at a higher rate than revenue. We've increased margins and maintained a strong cash result supporting our target to deliver low double digit EBITA growth.

Strategy execution and business diversification underpins our results

We have the agility, flexibility and breadth of capability to support customers across geographies and ECR sectors as they rebalance their investment in traditional, transitional and sustainable portfolios.

Confident in long term growth

Our markets are positively leveraged to global megatrends and investment momentum continues to build over the medium to long term. We're successfully executing our strategy supporting high single digit EBITA margins over time and maintaining our double digit EBITA CAGR.¹

- low double digit EBITA CAGR

1. Total open pipeline, factored for likelihood of project proceeding and being awarded to Worley.
2. Productivity factor calculated as underlying EBITA / Total headcount.

Drivers of backlog change

- Wins and scope increases exceeded backlog delivered in the period demonstrating our strong bookings

Outlook

Chris Ashton,
Chief Executive Officer

Outlook context

A higher cost of capital as well as policy and economic headwinds, are influencing the pace of the energy transition. We are seeing some customers rebalance their portfolios and reassess capital allocation decisions. Worley has a critical role to play in this rebalancing process.

We expect current headwinds to continue but remain confident of delivering our FY25 outlook.

We're actively focusing on:

- winning work in growth markets
- redeploying our people to match customer needs
- disciplined bidding of work and low risk reimbursable contracts
- improving efficiency through technology
- prudent cost and capital management

Group outlook¹

We reconfirm our outlook expectations for FY25 and are targeting low double digit EBITA growth and expect the underlying EBITA margin (excluding the impact of procurement) to be within a range of 8.0-8.5%.

We're successfully executing our strategy which supports maintaining high single digit EBITA margins and targets low double digit EBITA CAGR.

As a leading global solutions provider in the markets we serve, we continue to be encouraged by the work we win as we support our customers across their traditional, transitional and sustainable portfolios.

1. All forward looking statements, including the HY25 Group outlook, remain subject to no material deterioration in current market conditions, including forward estimates of timing, award and delivery of future projects. See slide 2 for more information.

Backlog definition

Backlog is the total dollar value of the amount of revenues expected to be recorded as a result of work performed under contracts or purchase/work orders already awarded to the Group. Backlog is not in constant currency and is reported using the year end exchange rates.

With respect to discrete projects an amount is included for the work expected to be received in the future. For multi-year contracts (i.e. framework agreements and master services agreements) and O&M contracts we include an amount of revenue we expect to receive for 36 months, regardless of the remaining life of the contract.

Due to the variation in the nature, size, expected duration, funding commitments and the scope of services required by our contracts and projects, the timing of when the backlog will be recognized as revenue can vary significantly between individual contracts and projects.

Fixed price vs reimbursable contract types

Reimbursable Contracts (~82% of our revenue in HY25):

- These contracts are based on reimbursing of reasonable and allowable actual costs plus profits. In addition to the base profits these contracts generate, we may earn further incentives from creating enhanced value for the customer, depending on the individual contract terms and conditions. When negotiating with our customers, we're typically able to adjust our contracts in line with inflation and wage increases.

Fixed Price Contracts (~18% of our revenue in HY25):

- A fixed-price type contract is appropriate when there is a well-defined bill of materials or statement of work, and the parties can agree on the price of the goods or services. We generally execute fixed-price contracts as:
- lump sum engineering, procurement and construction (EPC), typically where we've completed the preceding phases and are confident of the scope. We could see an increase in these types of contracts in the future if they present the opportunity for higher margins while minimizing risk.
- lump sum services contracts, where we can control the outcomes. These typically have a short duration (on average, under six months) and would generally take into consideration inflationary expectations.

We have minimal direct exposure to supply chain risk as we typically purchase materials on behalf of our customers.

Rules for items excluded from underlying results

Worley has guidelines for determining items to be excluded from non IFRS profit measures, such as underlying NPATA and underlying EBITA. These guidelines are for determining underlying profit for internal management reporting and external reporting purposes.

There are three principles which form the foundation of Worley's approach to determining adjustments to underlying profit. These are:

- Consistency: A consistent approach should be adopted from period to period. We consider how items have been previously treated. Consistency is one of the key points in the Australian Institute of Company Directors (AICD) and ASIC RG 230 guidelines.
- Relevance: Worley discloses underlying profit measures as the information is considered useful for investors to understand Worley's financial condition and results of operations. It provides investors with a view of the sustainable performance of the Group.
- Neutrality: Adjustments to determine underlying earnings must not be biased and in other words should be neutral. A key concept in most regulator guidelines is neutrality.

Review

Each December and June external reporting periods all income or expense items to be excluded from underlying profit will continue to be formally reviewed and approved by the Board, Chief Financial Officer, the Audit & Risk Committee and the external Auditors as part of the approval of the Financial Statements.
